2021 Fall Conference

Now Live!

---

MGUG is proud to announce that their Fall Conference is now LIVE! Early bird tickets will be $20 (plus Eventbrite fees) until Sept 30.

<https://www.eventbrite.ca/e/mgug-fall-conference-2021-tickets-167544154075>

MGUG is going to hold the virtual conference over two half days in the afternoons of October 20 and 21, 2021.

John Nelson is the keynote speaker for MGUG's 2021 Fall Conference!

If you have a topic you think the MGUG community would find interesting, please fill out an Abstract Submission Form or email info@mgug.ca to be considered for a spot to present at the Fall 2021 Conference! You, too, could have the much-coveted MGUG MUG for speaking! There's still time for abstract submissions.

Check out <https://www.mgug.ca/conference/> for the most up to date details about our event and speakers.

John Nelson

John Nelson is a map maker, software experience designer, and writer at Esri. He works with the Living Atlas team, creating geographic data, web experiences, moderately-educational blogs, and mildly-instructional videos. He works in a small woodshed in Michigan and relishes the opportunity to chat with other map folks.
